Cape Cod's Chatham Bars Inn is starting up the summer with several culinary events featuring national guest chefs who will create exclusive menus within the coastal New England setting.

The upcoming events will combine each of the chef's different cooking styles, techniques, and backgrounds with Cape Cod's local eats, presenting both spins on traditional dishes and entirely new creations by utilizing freshly-caught seafood and produce from the resort's eight-acre farm.

The exclusive events will be located outdoors to evoke the natural setting of Cape Cod. The Summer Guest Chef Series will cost $95 per person and $130 with two selected wine pairings. Reservations will open March 28, 2019.

A sample of the upcoming chefs featured at the Chatham Bars Inn Summer Guest Chef Series includes:

- June 26 – Chef Mike Price, The Clam, New York, New York: Mike Price is the chef and co-owner of The Clam, a seafood restaurant located in Manhattan's West Village, and its sister restaurant, Market Table.
- July 3 – Chef Tyler Anderson, Millwright's Restaurant, Simsbury, Connecticut; The Cook & The Bear, Hartford, Connecticut; Porrón & Piña, Hartford, Connecticut: Chef Tyler Anderson is a nationally renowned chef nominated for The Best Chef Northeast award from The James Beard Foundation for the past six years and a former Top Chef contestant from Season 15 of Bravo's hit show.
- July 10 – Chef Andy Husbands, The Smoke Shop, Cambridge/Boston/Somerville, Massachusetts: Chef Andy Husbands is the award-winning chef, author, and Pit Master behind The Smoke Shop, Boston's acclaimed barbecue restaurant and 2018 winner of Best Barbecue from Boston Magazine and The Improper Bostonian.

The other chefs in the program include Michael Scelfo (July 17), Tatiana Rosana (July 24), Keven Sbraga (July 31), Michael Schlow (August 7), Rebecca Arnold (August 14), Tony Messina (August 21) and Colin Lynch (August 28).

Last year, Chatham Bars Inn launched a new resort club membership program. Members receive exclusive access to luxury services, amenities, activities and events.
